- Navigating the complex landscape of IT providers isn't always easy. The Interxion Marketplace uses intelligent search terms which allow you to narrow the field to only the services you are looking to buy and in the locations you need.
- Decreasing your IT costs, the Interxion Marketplace includes only service providers that are located within our data centers. Reduce cost of connecting to your service providers and partners by choosing a provider located close proximity to your IT environments.
- Speed up your time to market and therefore enjoy a market advantage in getting your services up and running by choosing a provider within one data center campus. Interxion offers a standard three business day service-level-agreement for cross connects or options to expedite connections within one business day.

Why participate in the Marketplace? Find out your benefits as a seller.

- Promote your company's services to a wide audience of over 900 enterprise customers, 750 network providers, 21 Internet exchange points, and 400 IT service and cloud providers.
- Receive requests from interested partners immediately - business leads delivered directly to your inbox.
- Make sure your services are visible to potential customers in a targeted way, through classifying them by service category or location, with no costs for generating leads!
- Being in close physical proximity to consumers has its advantages. Enterprises are more likely to choose providers from within their same data center campus due to the low cost of connecting to their providers as well as a time to market advantage for getting services up and running.
- The Interxion Marketplace allows you to market your services to a community of potential buyers in a targeted way. With Interxion's intelligent search terms, receive leads from targeted buyers looking for your services within your geographical footprint.
- Lower your marketing costs. Your Marketplace profile is your digital storefront to a targeted community of companies with a high affection to buy your services. Create your profile for free now and receive messages from interested parties.
